

TOBOR

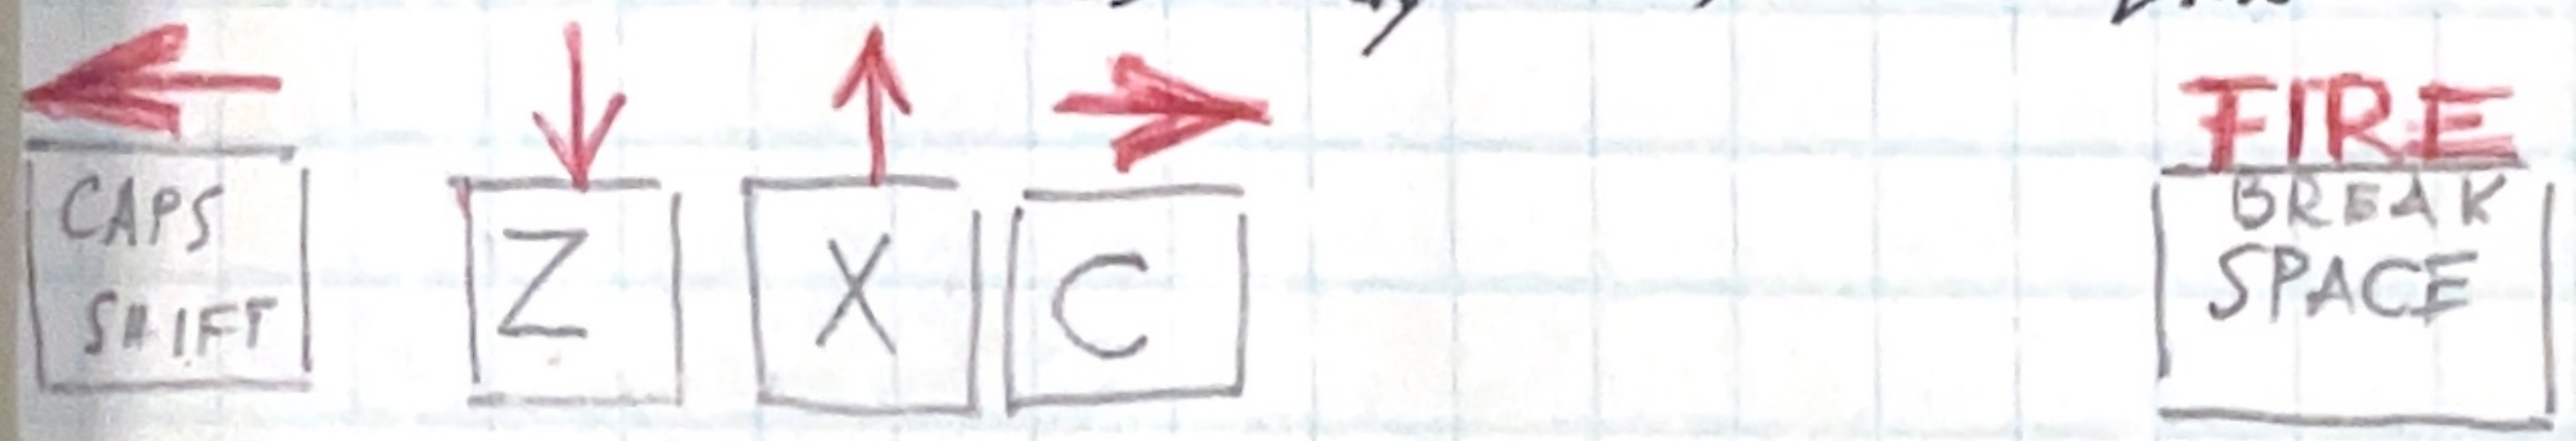

G

On a mission to discover new life you develop problems with your propulsion and navigational systems and are forced to land on the planet KALANIUM. There you must collect quittian stones to repair your module unfortunately. KALANIUM is ruled by a race of nasty robots whose one objective is to destroy invaders. You must enter their city to search for your precious stones. The robots will disintegrate if they hit each other. Points are awarded for destroying the robots. Take care the green robots are indistinctable

Note you may only FIRE when you are moving
