Re: A hybrid approach for optimization of one dimensional cutting; Gradisar, Miro / Resinovic,
G.
Pap.No.: 97265

Dear Dr. Gradisar,

I am pleased to inform you that your paper has been accepted for publication in the EUROPEAN JOURNAL OF OPERATIONAL RESEARCH. The procedure from now on is as follows. Enclosed you will find an Acceptance form which you must send immediately to North-Holland at the address given. You must enclose a copy of the accepted version of your paper, which is obviously the last you sent to me, and the original figures, if there are any. You may also enclose a disk containing an electronic version of your final manuscript, which must be in accordance with the details given in Instructions to Authors. Proofs will be sent to you by North-Holland. I suggest you read them carefully and check them once more against the original; you are the only one responsible for doing this. Together with the proofs you will receive an order form for reprints (25 reprints are complimentary). Three months before publication North-Holland will inform you in which issue your paper will appear. Editorial policy is to publish all papers quickly but authors will appreciate that the desire to have issues with balanced contents implies that papers will not simply appear in the order of their acceptance. That and the need to publish at a uniform monthly rate when the supply is variable will occasionally delay a paper's appearance longer than the Editors would wish, but if this should be the case with your paper, we trust that we can count on your understanding.

Your paper from now on is no longer under my control. Please, address queries only to the desk editor:
