

Subject: Re: nostalgia

Date: Thu, 10 Sep 1998 10:27:27 -0400 (EDT)

From: PAVLETICH@aol.com

To: Gortan.Resinovic@UNI-LJ.SI

I'm very glad you came to visit Los Angeles-- it's a nice city with a fairly bad reputation!

New Yorkers love to make fun of Los Angeles, but mostly because they've never visited.

Mileva is in her mid-eighties, and a couple of months ago went from Umag to Herpelje, to visit my mother Rosina's sister Gizela; her niece/nephew drove her there, and when she was at Gizela's house, she had them write to me, and then sent me the letter-- she wrote, "as proof" that she went to visit! Her late cousin lived in San Pedro (where somehow there are a lot of Croatians), and his wife Ljubica and her two sons, I believe, still live. Whenever I write a letter to Mileva, I give Ljubica a call to see if there is any news. If you see Mileva, do give her my best regards.

Tell Ana not to make a big deal about writing in English; I can understand anything, even hieroglyphics and pictograms. Besides, it's fun to get things in the mail. One of life's great entertainments, letters are.

I'm impressed with your popularity! To think that 200 students would want to take your examination! I suppose that while you were in Los Angeles, they were studying assiduously.

I still have the letter we began to write after lunch at Gladstone's; I was about to send it when I wondered if Bostjan is still in Celje; we have been e-mailing one another and I'm uncertain whether or not he has moved.

Lately I have been tinkering with a computer, and perhaps spending too much time, because puzzles fascinate me. Eventually I will bring it up to speed so that I can use it for e-mail. Meanwhile, I'm still on text-only.

E ya later

Love

Aida

Subject: Economists in America

Date: Sat, 10 Oct 1998 11:44:30 -0400 (EDT)

From: PAVLETICH@aol.com

To: gortan.resinovic@UNI-LJ.SI

We have a folk custom here in America that dates back to the early silent film classics....

Famed Economist Gets Hits With Pie

By JORDAN LITE

.c The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) -- Telling him that it was ``a good day to pie,' ' an environmentalist slapped Nobel Prize-winning economist Milton Friedman in the face with a coconut cream pie.

Friedman was talking with people attending a conference on education when Al Decker, a member of the Biotic Baking Brigade, told him, ``Mr. Friedman, it's a good day to pie' ' and gave him a taste -- all over his face.

According to Decker, the economist said: ``I guess that sometimes this happens.' ' Friedman could not be reached for comment.

Friedman won the Nobel Memorial Prize in Economic Science in 1976.

Decker said he pied Friedman because the brigade opposes the privatization of education.

``He is the world's preeminent neoliberal economist, and that economic philosophy is responsible for the destruction of our environment, the deterioration of our social structure and has brought the world to the brink of an economic collapse,' ' Decker said.

Decker, 27, was arrested for misdemeanor battery and released.

In February, pranksters in Brussels, Belgium, hit Microsoft Corp. Chairman Bill Gates with three pies. Procter & Gamble Chairman John Pepper was pied less than two weeks later in Columbus, Ohio, by animal rights activists.

And last November, designer Oscar de la Renta was smacked in the face with a tofu cream pie during an autograph-signing session at a shopping mall in suburban Portland, Ore.

AP-NY-10-10-98 0411EDT

Subject: Nobel Prize

Date: Thu, 08 Oct 1998 11:21:40 -0400 (EDT)

From: PAVLETICH@aol.com

To: gortan.resinovic@UNI-LJ.SI

I'm very glad to hear that you've visited my aunts-- also that they are well. I've never seen the Pavletic graves, are they in that lovely cemetery on the hill at Herpelje?

Here in Los Angeles, on November 1, the Mexicans have a great celebration on "El Dia de los Muertos," the Day of the Dead where they have toys for the children such as little skulls and skeletons, and coffins where you can pull a string and a little skeleton pops up. That's Christianity, Aztec style!

So you really think you're too old-fashioned to get a much $$$ job at one of the hi-tech places? You know that the kids don't really have "new" ideas, they just copy from American television-- don't start wondering where they get their inspiration for what looks new, it's because they have endless amounts of time to play! Anyhow, I sent Bostjan the information too. Prosperity doesn't hurt an evolved mind!

Meanwhile, the Nobel prizes are being given out. I'm so disappointed that I didn't get the one for literature, but you may have your chance when they give out the Economics prizes next week:

Jose Saramago Wins Literature Nobel

By JIM HEINTZ

.c The Associated Press

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) -- Portuguese novelist Jose Saramago, an outspoken nonconformist who has a soft spot for the common man, was named the winner today of the 1998 Nobel Literature Prize.

Saramago's exuberant imagination and playfulness have made him one of Portugal's most popular contemporary writers, and his works have been translated into more than 20 languages.

"I'm personally very happy," the writer said today in Frankfurt, Germany, where he was attending a bookfair. "I'm also happy for my country."

The Swedish Academy said it gave the award to Saramago for work that "with parables sustained by imagination, compassion and irony continually enables us to apprehend an elusive reality."

"He invokes tradition in a way that in the current state of things can be described as radical," the Academy said in the citation for the $978,000 prize.

Saramago, 75, wrote his breakthrough novel in 1982, "Baltasar and Blimunda." Perhaps his best-known work is "The Stone Raft," in which the Iberian Peninsula breaks off from Europe for supernatural reasons and floats off into the Atlantic.

That device allows him to comment ironically "about the authorities and politicians, perhaps especially about the major players in power politics."

Saramago (pronounced sah-rah-MAH-go) is the fourth consecutive European to win the prestigious prize and the first laureate to write in Portuguese. Anxiety about the skewing of priorities in modern society is evident in all his works and also gives a clue to his resolute sympathy toward communists.

He had long been seen as one of the strongest potential candidates for the prize and the frequent media queries about his prospects contrasted with his quiet personality.

Saramago had planned to leave Germany today for his home in the Canary Islands. But as he waited in the airport, his publisher told him to go back to the fair, where a cheering rose-bearing crowd awaited him.

He told them he felt a special responsibility being the first winner from Portugal. "Therefore it's a patriotic reason as well," he said through a translator, adding he hoped "more people will read Portuguese" now.

Asked why his works are important, he said: "That's not for me to decide. That's for my readers."

Saramago's regular newspaper and radio commentaries reflect views that are always inspired by his deep concern for his fellow man.

"Blindness," his most recent book to be translated into English, is an unsettling allegory about the social meltdown as an inexplicable blindness sweeps through society.

"This blindness isn't a real blindness, it's a blindness of rationality," he said at the time. "We're rational beings but we don't behave rationally. If we did, there'd be no starvation in the world."

Born Nov. 16, 1922, in the town of Azinhaga near Lisbon, Saramago was raised in the capital. From a poor family, he never finished university but continued to study part-time while supporting himself as a metalworker.

His first novel published in 1947 -- "Terra do Pecado," or "Country of Sin" -- was a tale of peasants in moral crisis. It sold badly, but won Saramago enough recognition to allow him jump from the welder's shop to a job on a literary magazine.

Yet for the next 18 years Saramago, then a committed communist who opposed the 41-year rightist dictatorship of Antonio Salazar, published only a few travel and poetry books while he worked as a journalist.

He returned to fiction only after Salazar's regime was toppled by a military uprising in 1974.

In "The History of the Siege of Lisbon," from 1989, a Lisbon proofreader mischievously inserts the word "not" into a text on the 12th century capture of the Portuguese capital from the Moors, thereby fictionally altering the course of European history with a stroke of his pen.

Such historical and literary mischief are Saramago trademarks.

He is most frequently compared with Colombian writer Gabriel Garcia Marquez and his writing is often described as realism tinged with Latin-American mysticism.

The literature prize is one of five established by Alfred Nobel, the Swedish industrialist and inventor of dynamite. The prizes have been awarded since 1901; a sixth prize, in economics, was started in 1969.

The Nobel Prize over the years has been given to writers with worldviews stretching from the bleak futility of Samuel Beckett's works to the vivid epics of Iceland's Halldor Laxness.

The prize even has gone occasionally to writers who did not work in fiction or poetry, notably Winston Churchill and Bertrand Russell.

Last year's prize went to Dario Fo, the Italian playwright whose work combines gut-busting comedy with acid social and political commentary. The 1996 winner was the Polish poet Wislawa Szymborska, as shy and delicate and Fo is boisterous.

The Swedish Academy does not reveal who was nominated or who it considered on its shortlist. Nominations can be made by previous laureates, professors of history and literature, members of the Academy and presidents of some national authors' organizations.

The Nobel Prize in Medicine winner will be announced Monday, the physics and chemistry winners on Tuesday, the economics laureate on Wednesday and the peace prize on Oct. 16. All the prize announcements are in Stockholm, except for the peace prize which is given in Oslo, Norway.

AP-NY-10-08-98 1012EDT

Subject: job in USA

Date: Wed, 30 Sep 1998 12:30:46 +0200

From: "Gortan Resinoviè" <gortan.resinovic@uni-lj.si>

To: aida <pavletich@aol.com>

Well, it would be nice to spend a year or so in sunny California and earn some green $, but nobody would like me there as I am too old. They need young and ambitious people with fresh ideas - this is considered to be a good investment and effective return for their money. Bostjan would be a proper person for such a position and I am going to tell him about this opportunity.

Last week Nada and I went to Hrpelje in order to clean up the grave of our grandparents Pavletic. In this part of the world we celebrate the Nov. 1st as a memory day for all people close to us who passed away. So everybody tried to make the grave of their beloved as nice as possible. After that we pay a visit to your aunt Gisela. She was very pleased to see us and get some fresh news about you. Her sister Milena was with us too. They both are very well and in good condition for their age.

Tomorrow a fall semester starts and I teach only one class with half a dozen students. What a release! I hardly believe it is true!

Love

Gortan

Dear Dean/Professor X:

The Association for Information Systems (AIS) is pleased to announce the publication of two, new electronic journals, The Communications of AIS (CAIS) and the Journal of AIS (JAIS). The Journal publishes rigorously researched articles on all aspects of information systems. It is a highly refereed, peer-reviewed journal. The Communications publishes articles on a wide range of subjects of interest in addition to research. CAIS Editors review all articles, and authors submitting papers may request that their submissions be peer reviewed as well.

We are writing to encourage you to consider these two journals as you would equivalent print journals in promotion and tenure decisions. We believe that eventually most academic journals will become electronic; the economics of Web publishing are much more attractive than printing and distributing paper journals. In fact, it is doubtful that AIS could afford to produce a single journal using the traditional paper publishing model. The Association for Computing Machinery (ACM), with approximately 80,000 members, has invested heavily in a digital library and has announced that it will end print publications at some point in the future. There are many electronic journals being published today, and more are planned.

This transition to electronic publishing raises some questions about the quality of papers published electronically and whether the review of these papers meets traditional standards. The AIS publications committee and journal editors are committed to the review policies stated above, and most important, to creating journals of the highest quality. Our objective is for the Journal of AIS to achieve a level of quality that equals the best print journals in our field, publications like Information Systems Research and MIS Quarterly. The Communications of AIS stresses quality; it is also a place to publish papers that do not deal with research such as tutorials, teaching cases and innovative ideas on teaching and curriculum.

Promotion and tenure committees can be confident that AIS electronic publications are refereed with the same rigor and have been subjected to the same high standards as the traditional printed journals in our field. Faculty should have no reservations about treating refereed articles in CAIS and JAIS as the equivalent to the best print publications.

Thank you for your interest; please feel free to contact either of us to discuss the AIS journals further.

Sincerely,

Henry C. Lucas, Jr.
Stern School of Business
New York University
Editor-in-Chief
AIS Electronic Journals
AIS Vice President, Publications,

Gordon Davis
Carlson School of Management
University of Minnesota
President, AIS

Subject: Locating IS programs

Date: Wed, 14 Oct 1998 09:58:28 +0800

From: AIS Announcement <cbauder@cis.gsu.edu>

To: ais@sphinx.gsu.edu

Dear AIS Member,

Gordon Davis and I have prepared a letter to Deans of business schools about the Communications of AIS and the Journal of AIS. The purpose of the letter is to introduce the journals and to assure the deans that they will meet the standards of existing print journals. We ask that publishing in JAIS and CAIS be considered in the promotion and tenure process as if the journals appeared in print.

A copy of the letter has been posted to the journal Web sites for downloading and inclusion in review packets for authors.

<http://jais.aisnet.org/format.asp>

We are writing to ask your help in identifying IS programs that are not in business schools. If the Dean to which your program ultimately reports is not in a business school, could you please send his or her name and address to Colleen Bauder at AIS headquarters? cbauder@gsu.edu

If you know of other programs that we might not reach, please send that information along as well.

Thank you very much.

Hank Lucas

Letter to Deans [MS Word format] [HTML format]

This page is maintained by the editor who values your feedback at eindor@post.tau.ac.il. General information on site maintenance is available. The copyright for all material appearing here is, unless otherwise noted, held by the Association for Information Systems.

Subject: Message from Hank Lucas, Editor-in-Chief, AIS Electronic Journals

Date: Tue, 08 Sep 1998 10:02:35 +0800

From: AIS Announcement <cbauder@cis.gsu.edu>

To: ais@sphinx.gsu.edu

Reply to: hlucas@stern.nyu.edu

Dear AIS Member:

At the recent Association for Information Systems Americas Conference in Baltimore, we announced the creation of two, new electronic journals, the Communications of AIS and The Journal of AIS. Paul Gray at Claremont Graduate University is the editor of the Communications and Phillip Ein-Dor of Tel-Aviv University is editor of the Journal (paul.gray@cgu.edu and eindor1@taunivm.tau.ac.il). Both journals have distinguished advisory and editorial boards.

The Communications will publish editor-reviewed and peer-refereed research articles, tutorials, case studies and essays. The Journal will publish rigorously refereed research papers only and will endeavor to achieve the same level of quality as the most respected print journals in the field.

Both journals are accepting submissions now; CAIS will begin to post articles in January of 1999 and JAIS is scheduled to appear in June of 1999.

We invite you to consider submitting papers to either journal, and hope that you find their contents to be useful in teaching and research.

For more information and submission instructions, please see

<http://cais.aisnet.org> or <http://cais.isworld.org>

<http://jais.aisnet.org> or <http://jais.isworld.org>

Thank you for your interest,

Hank Lucas
Editor-in-Chief
AIS Electronic Journals
hlucas@stern.nyu.edu

Subject: CAIS: Subscriber Instructions

Date: Mon, 04 Jan 1999 20:27:46 +0000 ("GMT")

From: Reagan Ramsower <Reagan_Ramsower@Baylor.Edu>

To: Gortan Resinovic <gortan.resinovic@UNI-LJ.SI>

Hello Gortan Resinovic,

As a member of AIS, you receive a free subscription to the Communications of the AIS. The inaugural publication is available now on the web at:

<http://cais.isworld.org/>

When you select an article to read, you will be required to enter an ID and password. The ID and password are case sensitive.

Your ID is: gortan.resinovic and your Password is: 861416

You can change your password by following the instructions at:

http://cais.isworld.org/change_password.asp

Please keep track of your ID and Password to prevent delays in accessing articles published in CAIS.

I know you will enjoy this new electronic journal sponsored by the Association for Information Systems. Notify me of any problems you experience in using the CAIS electronic journal.

Regards,
Reagan Ramsower
Editor, ISWorld
Publisher, CAIS

Subject: Re: artemis

Date: Wed, 01 Nov 2000 13:48:25 -0400 (EDT)

From: MJENKINS@UBmail.ubalt.edu

To: Gortan Resinovic <gortan.resinovic@Uni-Lj.si>

Gortan, Good to hear from you. Regarding ARTEMIS we are currently setting up a new server to run all our web based activities so AETEMIS is not on the web at this time.

BUT, to provide ARTEMIS to your students and also test its effectiveness online we have set up a test version for you to use. It will contain a full version of ARTEMIS and be kept up to date. We plan to leave it up for your use until the end of the year. To use AEEMS on the web: URL - isrc.ubalt.edu/Artemis/artemis.html Username - slovenia_project Password - s.lo_va.c
Let me know how this works out for you and your students.

Milt

-
1. Projekcija sl. 3.1 → Povzetek (Review question 3) projekcija sl. 3.2
 2. Poglavje 4 - Analiza zahtev : DFD
DD

Process Description Tools

Decision Tables

POGOTI	STRATEGIJE
REZITVE	AKCIJE

FACULTY OF ECONOMICS LJUBLJANA

Facsimile Cover Sheet

To:	Prof. dr. András GÁBOR
Organisation:	Budapest University of Economic Sciences Department of Information Systems Budapest IX, Királyi utca 1-7
Phone:	36-1-217-0233
Fax:	36-1 218-4665 / 36-1-217-0608
From:	Prof. dr. Goran RESNOVIC
Organisation:	University of Ljubljana Faculty of Economics Kardeljeva ploščad 17 61101 Ljubljana, Slovenia
Phone:	+ 386 61 1892 400
Fax:	+ 386 61 1892 698
Date:	Ljubljana, 3.XI.1998
Pages including this cover page:	2

Message:

IF UNDELIVERED, PLEASE RETURN TO THE ABOVE ADDRESS

IF UNDELIVERED, PLEASE RETURN TO THE ABOVE ADDRESS

Prof.dr. Andras GABOR
Head of Information Systems Department
Budapest University of Economic Sciences
BUDAPEST IX
Kinizsci utca 1-7

Dear prof. Gabor,

A couple of years ago I was visiting your university as a CEEPUS scholar. At that time the agreement of cooperation between BUES and Faculty of Economics in Ljubljana was signed.

During my stay in Budapest I met with you and some members of your department. As a result of our talks, prof. Molnar and you invited me and my institution to join a Multimedia Phare Project, which, unfortunately, wasn't accepted. Anyhow, after that we somehow lost a contact. But I did not forget you. Some time ago I was asked to propose one of my friends from foreign scientific institutions for a member of international editorial board of Slovene Economic Review. Among many colleagues from European and American universities I considered you as a proper person for this position (I have some strong reasons in favour to my choice but I am sorry that I did not consult you on this matter).

Now you were elected to this position and I have the pleasure to inform you about this and to ask you to accept it. I tried to get in touch with you through E-mail (but I didn't find your electronic address) and through telephone (but the lady on the other side spoke only Hungarian and the only thing I could figure out from what she said was »nemlehet«). So I decided to fax this message to you. And prof. Gabor, please let me know about your decision as soon as possible so that in the case of your acceptance I can send the formal letter of agreement to you. You can let me know about your decision either through fax or to my E-mail: GORTAN.RESINOVIC@UNI-LJ.SI

Congratulations and best regards,

Prof.dr. G. Resinovič

IF UNDELIVERED, PLEASE RETURN TO THE ABOVE ADDRESS

Prof.dr. Andras GABOR
Head of Information Systems Department
Budapest University of Economic Sciences
BUDAPEST IX
Kinizsci utca 1-7

Dear prof. Gabor,

A couple of years ago I was visiting your university as a CEEPUS scholar. At that time the agreement of cooperation between BUES and Faculty of Economics in Ljubljana was signed.

During my stay in Budapest I met with you and some members of your department. As a result of our talks, prof. Molnar and you invited me and my institution to join a Multimedia Phare Project, which, unfortunately, wasn't accepted. Anyhow, after that we somehow lost a contact. But I did not forget you. Some time ago I was asked to propose one of my friends from foreign scientific institutions for a member of international editorial board of Slovene Economic Review. Among many colleagues from European and American universities I considered you as a proper person for this position (I have some strong reasons in favour to my choice but I am sorry that I did not consult you on this matter).

Now you were elected to this position and I have the pleasure to inform you about this and to ask you to accept it. I tried to get in touch with you through E-mail (but I didn't find your electronic address) and through telephone (but the lady on the other side spoke only Hungarian and the only thing I could figure out from what she said was »nemlehet«). So I decided to fax this message to you. And prof. Gabor, please let me know about your decision as soon as possible so that in the case of your acceptance I can send the formal letter of agreement to you. You can let me know about your decision either through fax or to my E-mail: GORTAN.RESINOVIC@UNI-LJ.SI

Congratulations and best regards,

Prof.dr. G. Resinovič

International Thomson Publishing

F A X - M E S S A G E

To: Gortan Resinovic, CEK, Slovenia
From: Lise Scharff, Sales Manager Northern-, Central- & Eastern Europe
E-mail: lise.scharff@inet.uni2.dk
Pages: 1
Date: 4.12.98
Re: Shelly: Systems Analysis & Design

Dear Gortan Resinovic,

Thank you for your e-mail to Niccy Maine in our UK office re. Shelly: Systems Analysis & Design – as I am responsible for the Eastern part of Europe she has forwarded your e-mail to me (unfortunately without your e-mail address, which is why I am sending you this fax).

The book itself:

ISBN 0789542668 £ 20.99 pr copy
ISBN 0789543133 £ 96.50 pr copy – which include the textbook and the VAS edition

The Instructors Resource kit:

ISBN 0799542676 is not for sale, and can only be given away to lecturers who is using the book as adopted textbook – as you are.

This means that you can choose between the first two options, and the price for delivery would be:

ISBN 0789542668 £ 59.50 (DHL)
ISBN 0789543133 £ 72.70 (DHL)

And the Instructors Resource Kit we would send you free of charge either way – I need your phonenumber in order to get our courier company to deliver it all to you.

As soon as you let me know what you want to order I will ensure a proforma is faxed to as soon as possible.

I look forward to hearing from you,
best wishes,
Lise Scharff

ITP Europe

Naverland 2, DK-2600 Glostrup, Denmark Tel +45 77 31 77 70 Fax +45 77 31 77 27

FACULTY OF ECONOMICS LJUBLJANA

Facsimile Cover Sheet

To:	LISE SHARFF
Organisation:	ITP EUROPE
Phone:	(+45) 77 31 77 70
Fax:	(+45) 77 31 77 27
From:	GORTAN RESINOVIC
Organisation:	University of Ljubljana Faculty of Economics Kardeljeva ploščad 17 61101 Ljubljana, Slovenia
Phone:	+ 386 61 1892 400
Fax:	+ 386 61 1892 698
Date:	DECEMBER 21, 1998
Pages including this cover page:	2

Message: To whom it may concerne,

Last Friday I had a telephone conversation with Ms. Lise Sharff. She told me she'll be absent this week but somebody in the office will deal with my problem.

I want to order 5 Shelly books System Analysis & Design, 3rd edition (ISBN 0789542668). The invoice (proforma) and the books should be mailed to the following address:

Ekonomska fakulteta
CEK

Ms. Slavka Dolenc
Kardeljeva ploscad 17
1000 Ljubljana
Slovenia

Please make sure that the address is written in the given sequence.

As the fall semester is almost over, my students will use the book only in the following semester which starts in the middle of February. This means that the delivery of books is not urgent. They could be send by the 1st class mail. The invoice, however, should be with us as soon as possible so that we can proceede the payment immediatelly.

Please send the Instructors Resource Kit to the following address:

Prof. Dr Gortan Resinovic
Ekonomska fakulteta
Kardeljeva ploscad 17
1000 Ljubljana
Slovenia

as I want to get used to it before new semester started.

With best regards,

G. Resinovic

(I am including a copy of Ms. Sharff fax for reference)

FACULTY OF ECONOMICS LJUBLJANA

Facsimile Cover Sheet

To:	National CEEPUS Office, Hungary
Organisation:	Dr. Anna Jakabfi Ministry of Culture and Education
Phone:
Fax:	00 361 332 1932
From:	doc. dr. Gortan Resinovič
Organisation:	University of Ljubljana Faculty of Economics Kardeljeva ploščad 17 61101 Ljubljana, Slovenia
Phone:	+ 386 61 1892 400
Fax:	+ 386 61 1892 698
Date:	8.11.1996
Pages including this cover page:	1 of 1

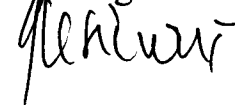

Message:

Mr. Andrej KOTNIK (Slovenian Ministry of Education and Sport) informed me that I was awarded the CEEPUS Grant for visiting Budapest University of Economic Sciences (CEEPUS Network no. HR-004) for the period Nov.15 - Dec. 14, 1996.

However, till now I have not received any information about this from the National CEEPUS Office in Budapest. As the beginning of my visit is approaching very fast I want to ask you to send as soon as possible all the necessary information about the Grant and my staying in Budapest to the following address:

Dr. Gortan Resinovič
Faculty of Economics
Kardeljeva ploscad 17
1000 Ljubljana
SLOVENIA

With regards

Subject: SAD SHELLY

Date: Wed, 02 Dec 1998 14:30:47 +0100

From: "Gortan Resinoviè" <gortan.resinovic@uni-lj.si>

To: "nicola.maine@itpuk.co.uk" <nicola.maine@itpuk.co.uk>

Hi,

My name is Gortan Resinovic and I am an MIS professor at Faculty of Economics, Ljubljana, Slovenia. I had a phone talk with Jacqui Baldwin this morning but she can't deal with my problem so she gave me your E-mail.

The problem is rather simple. Three months ago I have ordered 5 books (Shelly, Cashman, Rosenblatt: Systems Analysis and Design, 3rd edition) through our library but recently our dealer informed me that the book is out of stock. Miss Baldwin told me, however, that I can get these books from your stock. If so, please send an invoice for 5 books mentioned above plus one Instructor's Resource Kit CD-ROM to the following address:

Ekonomska fakulteta

CEK

Ga. Slavka Dolenc

Kardeljeva ploscad 17

1000 Ljubljana

Slovenia

I have my own copy of the book (but I don't have CD-ROM) so the ordered books will be used by my students. So, instead of having simple textbook (ISBN 0-7895-4266-8) it would be better to have textbook with Visible Analyst-Student Edition (ISBN 0-7895-4313-3). Now, as I don't know the difference in price (and as we have a limited budget for such cases) I'd like to ask you to send 2 invoices: one for normal textbooks and the other for textbooks with Visible Analysts. And don't forget to add CD-ROM (ISBN 0-7895-4276-6) in both cases.

This is urgent as I am lecturing this course in ongoing semester. Our library will make the payment immediately after receiving your invoice and I would like to ask you to proceed with shipment as soon as possible. In order to speed up the whole procedure you can fax the invoice to the fax# (+ 386 61 1892 698).

Thank you and best regards,

Gortan Resinovic.

MINISTRE

FACULTY OF ECONOMICS LJUBLJANA

Facsimile Cover Sheet

To:	National CEEPUS Office, Hungary
Organisation:	Dr. Anna Jakabfi Ministry of Culture and Education
Phone:
Fax:	00 361 332 1932
From:	doc. dr. Gortan Resinovič
Organisation:	University of Ljubljana Faculty of Economics Kardeljeva ploščad 17 61101 Ljubljana, Slovenia
Phone:	+ 386 61 1892 400
Fax:	+ 386 61 1892 698
Date:	8.11.1996
Pages including this cover page:	1 of 1

Message:

Mr. Andrej KOTNIK (Slovenian Ministry of Education and Sport) informed me that I was awarded the CEEPUS Grant for visiting Budapest University of Economic Sciences (CEEPUS Network no. HR-004) for the period Nov.15 - Dec. 14, 1996.

However, till now I have not received any information about this from the National CEEPUS Office in Budapest. As the beginning of my visit is approaching very fast I want to ask you to send as soon as possible all the necessary information about the Grant and my staying in Budapest to the following address:

Dr. Gortan Resinovič
Faculty of Economics
Kardeljeva ploščad 17
1000 Ljubljana
SLOVENIA

With regards

FŐVÁROSI ÉS PEST MEGYEI EGÉSZSÉGBIZTOSÍTÁSI PÉNZTÁR
VIII., FIUMEI ÚT 19/A
1430 BUDAPEST
Postafiók 1.

Telexfím: 224410 tbibp h
224465 tbibp h

322-5832
Telefon:

Hiv. szám:

BE-80-..... 62 890/1996 szám

(válasz esetén kérjük
a fenti számra hivatkozni.)
Tárgy:

Melléklet:

TÁRSADALOMBIZTOSÍTÁSI IGAZOLVÁNYT HELYETTESÍTŐ IGAZOLÁS, KIZÁRÓLAG EGÉSZSÉGÜGYI SZOLGÁLTATÁS IGÉNYBEVÉTELÉRE

N é v:..... Qortan Kenovic.....

Szül. idő:..... 1935. 02. 21......

Személyi szám:.....

Törzsszám:..... 5677629/B.....

Jogosultság kezdete:..... 1996. 11. 01......

Lakcím:..... 1074. Bp. Rádfa u. 11......

Anyja neve:..... Karija Pauletic.....

Fent nevezett az egészségügyi szolgáltatásokra való jogosultságot igazolta. Az igazolvány kiadása folyamatban van.

1996. 12. 21.
Az igazolás visszavonásig érvényes.

Budapest, 1996..... 11...... 19.....

06-23-374-832

BUDAPEST UNIVERSITY OF ECONOMIC SCIENCES
OFFICE FOR INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

H-1093 Budapest, Hungary

Tel./Fax: (361) 217-4531

E-mail: nko.vevess@uni.hu

nko.vevess

University of Ljubljana
Faculty of Economics
Prof. Dr. Borjan Rešnovec

Dear Prof. Rešnovec,

Enclosed are the following brochures:
1. Economic Science in Hungary
2. University of Applied Sciences
3. International Relations

4. University of Applied Sciences
Department of Applied Economics
5. International Relations

Here are some points you

OSACADOC

will be paid by the Hungarian

Living costs in Hungary:

Comparing to Western Europe,
accommodation is cheap and public

University facilities:

Foreign professors have a facilities, etc. As the director of the university, should be member of the library.

Accommodation:

The Office for International the key for the flat so please planning to arrive to Budapest

HOME 23 374 832

()

...received a flat in the centre of Budapest... We have... when you are

The price of accomodation for Int...

Subject: (Fwd) invitation

Date: Thu, 19 Nov 1998 16:15:34 +0100

From: gabor@informatika.bke.hu

To: Gortan Resinovič <gortan.resinovic@UNI-LJ.SI>

I try to send the original message again. Let's see what happen.

----- Forwarded Message Follows -----

From: Self <gabor>
To: gortan.resinovic@uni-lj.si
Subject: invitation
Date sent: Fri, 6 Nov 1998 09:09:37 +0100

Dear Professor Resinovic,

thank you very much for fax dated November 4, 1998. It is a great honour for me to be selected into the international members of the editorial board. I try to meet the high requirements of the editorial board of a quality journal.

Since our last meeting, the department has moved to another building of the university, but our telephone numbers has not changed.

The address: Budapest, V., Veres Pálné utca 36

Tel/fax: 36-1-218-4665

e-mail: gabor@informatika.bke.hu

ISDN (Video) 36-1-429-0377

The last number suggest, that we are available through and for videoconferencing. Because of the moving in September and October it was difficult to reach us, but by now the situation has been consolidated. We are continuously searching new projects, but unfortunately TEMPUS has finished, SOCRATES/ERASMUS is far less attractive. Now Framework 5 looks interesting, and I think in the near future the conditions will be clear enough to look for partners.

Thank you very much for your letter, the invitation to the editorial board.

Hope to seeing you in Budapest soon.

Best regards,

Andras Gabor

Dr. Andras Gabor
Head of Department
Information Systems Department
Budapest University of Economic Sciences
Budapest V. Veres Palne utca 36, Hungary H-1053
Tel/fax: 36-1-218-4665
gabor@informatika.bke.hu

Subject: Re: first message

Date: Thu, 19 Nov 1998 12:11:50 +0100

From: gabor@informatika.bke.hu

To: Gortan Resinovič <gortan.resinovic@UNI-LJ.SI>

Thanks for the communication,

The address:

Information Systems Department
Budapest University of Economic Sciences
Budapest V. Veres Palne utca 36, Hungary H-1053
Tel/fax: 36-1-218-4665
gabor@informatika.bke.hu

Dr. Andras Gabor
Head of Department
Information Systems Department
Budapest University of Economic Sciences
Budapest V. Veres Palne utca 36, Hungary H-1053
Tel/fax: 36-1-218-4665
gabor@informatika.bke.hu